LYMAN'S DANDELION BITTERS.

Not Only a Preventive, but Also a Sure Cure for Biliousness.

The liver is one of the most important organs of the body. It not only filters the blood and thus removes all impurities from it, but it also secretes the bile, that peculiar bitter fluid so necessary for the separation of the refuse matter from the nourishing portion of the digested food, and for the stimulation of the bowels.

If for any reason the bile is turned into the stomach instead of following its natural course, it is taken up by the blood, and the whole system becomes poisoned. The result is nausea, sickness, headache, dizziness and constipation. If the cause is not removed, the trouble becomes chronic and life a burden. At such a time the best remedy is which opens the ducts and allows the bile to flow in its natural channel, while at the same it stimulates the bowels.

—THE

New Hub Range

FOR 1883.

COMBINES MORE IMPROVEMENTS,

And Conveniences,

than all its competitors. The introduction of the New Hub in the city has caused our competitors to make over their goods, and, in doing so their aim has been to get a stove "as good as the New Hub," but as yet they have all failed, and without it by cannot get a stove that will compare with the Hub. We have

The Patent Reflex Crate,

within three years and we refer to them for proof that the New Hub is the easiest range to manage; the best baker, the most durable and the prettiest range in the market. To prove the durability of the heavy grate, we will simply say that we have in 4 in three years replaced or repaired one dozen grates out of the hundreds that we have sold, during the Summer season the New Hub has been nearly made over. Every point which experience has proved to need strength, has been thoroughly strengthened, and we have to-day a range that is twenty-five per cent. ahead of any other in New England.

Compare it with anything in the city, even the latest, and decide for yourself. We refund money for every range that proves unsatisfactory after a fair trial.

EDITOR BURT'S LIGHTNING STROKE.

HOW IT FEELS "AMONG THE CLOUDS" TO BE ELECTRIFIED.

Henry M. Burt, editor of Among the Clouds, who was struck by lightning while in his office on the top of Mt. Washington, Saturday evening, gives a report of the occurrence:

All at once I felt a tremendous blow in the back. I could not imagine at first what caused it, but instantly thereafter I saw a ball of fire as large as a man's head directly in front of me, not three feet off. It exploded with a tremendous noise, seemingly as loud as a cannon, and then I knew what must have happened. My left leg seemed to be completely paralyzed, and I fell to the floor. Three of my printers were in the room at the time, two sitting at the table near me and one standing up a little further off. The latter had the skin on one hand torn up, another was hit in the back and the third escaped without injury. At first I felt as though a ball had gone through my body, and that all below had been shot away. I was startled and confounded, but did not lose consciousness.

The young man who could get out of the office ran to the hotel, the Summit House, and told what had happened. Help came immediately, and I was removed to my room in the hotel and undressed. Dr. Stroug, a medical student of Harvard, took my case in charge and treated me with great skill. In the course of two or three hours I could begin to move my leg a very little. This (Monday) morning I find myself quite comfortable, though I cannot walk without a cane, and my leg pains me considerably. I can assure you that it was a narrow escape from instant death, and for one I do not care to go through another experience like it. As the stones are all, or most of them, below the summit, we have very little fear of being struck by lightning. In fact, for thirty years no one has been hurt, or had such a narrow escape from death.

It is an old saying that lightning never strikes twice in the same place, and I am sure I do not care to have it. We were all more surprised from the fact that until the bolt came in we had no idea of the presence of electric storm. It had begun to rain a little, but there had been no flashes of lightning. It was as startling as it would have been to get a clap of thunder out of a clear sky. You have probably heard of the impression of a tree being found upon the bodies of those killed by lightning. The same thing was noticed upon my back, and as there are no trees on Mt. Washington, it seems to me that the peculiar appearance must be the result of the blood settling in the smaller veins.

DISSATISFIED CADETS.

PETITIONING GENERAL MERRITT—WEST POINT EXCITED OVER THE DISMISSAL OF CADET HARTIGAN.

A West Point despatch of August 1, says: The cadets here are in a state of great excitement over the dismissal of Cadet Thomas L. Hartigan, a member of the present first class. Though they have done nothing as yet, except petition the Superintendent, General Merritt, on the subject, there is no telling what they will do next. Hartigan was dismissed for hazing, or in West Point slang, "deviling" a fourth class man named Acuff. The affair occurred on the night of July 21, but the excitement over it is just at its height. Acuff was a sentinel on the night of July 21, and was walking his lonely post down on No. 3, a secluded spot near the grassy slopes of Fort Clinton. A party of cadets who had been attending a hop at the hotel took it into their heads as they were returning to the camp to have a little sport at the expense of the "plebe" sentinel, who was that night making his first tour of guard duty.

It is a custom as old as the Academy to "devil" the unlucky "plebe" who does his first guard duty on post No. 3, and as the place offers every facility for such proceedings, the party coming home from the hop determined to keep up the old custom. So they wrapped themselves in sheets and dusted in a ghostly manner around Acuff. Then Hartigan, who was an officer of the battalion and who wore a red sash, put on a sword and approached the post. Acuff naturally mistook him for the officer of the guard and sang out "Who goes there?" To which Hartigan replied: "Friend with the countersign." "Advance, officer of the guard," returned Acuff. "I am not officer of the guard—advance me properly," said Hartigan, and he went away.

A SENTINEL SURPRISED.

A few minutes later midnight a buck from the clock tower across the plain and the musical cry of the cadet sentinels calling the hour rang around the camp. "Post No. 1, 12 o'clock, and all's well." "Post No. 2, 12 o'clock, and all's well-l-l." "Post No. 3," began Acuff, bringing his piece to arms port. Just then he was seized from behind and rolled down the slope into the ditch of Fort Clinton.

When the corporal of the guard came in response to Acuff's call, the sentinel told the story of his woes, but said that he was unable to recognize his assailants. The next morning he said the same thing. At parade that day the commandant of cadets noticed that Acuff's bayonet was bent. This led to an investigation, and the goings on of the previous night were reported to the superintendent. Several cadets were placed under arrest on suspicion of having been concerned in the affair, but Acuff was unable to recognize any of them as his assailants.

On the following day, which was Monday, as the cadets were falling in to go to dinner, he pointed out Hartigan as the man who had thrown him into the ditch. Hartigan was arrested directly on and taken before General Merritt. He was charged with personating the officer of the guard, making use of the countersign, and aiding and abetting the abuse of a sentinel. He refused to answer questions put to him by the superintendent, and on the following Friday he was dismissed, by order of the Secretary of War upon the recommendation of General Merritt.

Two other cadets, F. H. Clarke, of the first class, and Williams, of the third, were thought by Acuff to have been among those who "deviled" him on post No. 3, and they were both promptly arrested. Clarke has been sentenced to the loss of all privileges, confinement to camp until the corps goes into barracks, and then confinement to barracks until December. Williams has a similar sentence, with the addition of a loss of [illegible] through which he would have been graduated next summer.

HARTIGAN INNOCENT.

Hartigan left the [illegible] Saturday and then it was [illegible] that Acuff who threw Acuff into the ditch, and they all declare that it was not Hartigan. They say that they had abundant testimony to exculpate him if he had been granted a trial, as they expected he would be. On Monday, a petition was presented to the superintendent, signed by all the members of the first and third classes. The second class did not sign, as they are away on a furlough, and although members of the fourth class expressed a willingness to sign, it was deemed best by those having the matter in charge that only the first and third classes should affix their names to it. The petition after reciting the events which had called it forth continued as follows:

Whereas, The offence of refusing to answer questions was committed by nine others and nothing has been produced to show that they could have answered them without criminating themselves and,

Whereas, The only testimony introduced is that of the sentinel; and,

Whereas, He, the sentinel, made to the corporal of the guard official statements directly contradictory to those which he made to the authorities, and upon which as a basis Cadet Hartigan was placed in arrest and dismissed without trial, and,

Whereas, We are prepared to substantiate these statements, we do petition that Cadet Hartigan be granted a court martial, or that his case be treated in the same manner as that of the others implicated in the affair. We further ask that the superintendent give this petition his earliest consideration, and forward his recommendation to the President by telegraph, as we are informed that the President leaves Washington to-morrow for an extended Western tour.

General Merritt refused to accede to the wishes of the petitioners, and yesterday and the day before nothing was talked of among the cadets but the case of the dismissed cadet and what should be the next step in the matter. They say that they will have "no boyish insubordination business," such as the Annapolis cadets indulged in recently but they do not indicate what they will do. General Merritt said that Hartigan had refused to answer any questions, and the only thing to be done was to dismiss him. He thought that it would be useless hazing, though of course it would not stop it entirely.

Acuff went into the hospital a day or two after his adventure on post No. 3, but was out yesterday.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The banks in Lewiston and Auburn hold no paper of the firm of F. Shaw & Brothers, of Boston. The fact is due, in a great measure, to good fortune, most of the banks having held the paper up to within a year and one or two of them up to within six months, and all of them, according to the general belief, having perfect faith in the reliability of the paper.

Cumberland.

The annual challenge cup races of the Portland Yacht Club took place Thursday. Instead of cups, purses were offered, and the struggle was confined to the second and third class boats. The prizes were $20, $15 and $10 for the second class, and one prize of $15 for the third class. The Vixen, Capt. J. C. Richardson, reached the line first, followed by the Casco, Capt. E. S. Soule, and Vim, Capt. F. R. Peters.

The Telegraph says Charles A. Pierce was very dangerously injured, Saturday, by falling into the vat at the pulp mill at Brunswick, by the giving way of staging. Both wrists of Mr. Pierce were broken, the bones of one badly crushed, and one shoulder was dislocated; he was bruised all over, possibly received internal injuries. He was quite comfortable Wednesday.

The Press says about 150 blacksmiths, painters and laborers on the line of the eastern railroad were discharged Wednesday.

The case of Bowler, arrested for alleged pension frauds, will come up at the term of the U. S. District Court to be held at Bath, Sept. 4th. He has given $1000 bonds for his appearance at that time.

John Rivers refused to pay his fare from Boston to Portland and then assaulted one of the officers. He was arrested and locked up.

Hancock.

The American says a large whale was picked up a few miles south of Schoodic Point, by Capt. William Hundy and two other men in a small fishing vessel. It is estimated to be worth seven hundred dollars.

Kennebec.

Kennebec Valley camp-meeting at Dresden, opens with the temperance camp-meeting, Aug. 9th. The Methodist camp-meeting begins Aug. 13th.

John Swanback, who shot John Hanson, recently, at Chapman Plantation, in an altercation about a line fence, formerly lived in Chelsea, and worked in Stickney & Page's oil-cloth factory, and was well known there as a quiet, inoffensive person.

Knox.

The Free Press says, the amount of canned fish and sardines shipped from the Maine coast towns and islands this season, is large enough to astonish those who have no knowledge of the business. Probably 1,500 to 2,000 dozen cans, or the equivalent of that amount of fish in some form, was shipped by the steamers from Rockland to Portland and Boston, Monday evening, besides many barrels of lobsters.

Lincoln.

The Eastern State of Dexter, says: Mr. G. Byron Jackson, his sister, Mrs. Clara Hunt, Miss Mabel I. Emerson, of Waterville, and Mr. Wallace Jackson, of Portland, were in a boat on the lake at Jefferson, last week, when the craft capsized and all were thrown into the water. Mr. G. B. Jackson, being encumbered by a coat and a pair of heavy rubber boots, sank twice; but he did not lose his presence of mind, and finally succeeded in divesting himself of those articles, directed the ladies to cling to him and when the boat came in sight bottom up, he succeeded in righting it, and getting his sister and Miss Emerson into it. He and the other Jackson then swam to the shore, a distance of half a mile, and all were rescued. Great credit is due the Messrs. Jackson for their coolness, courage and unselfish conduct.

Iowa College, at Grinnell, Iowa, which was wrecked by a cyclone last year, is rapidly being rebuilt. The new buildings will be much superior to the old, and will comprise various new features, such as a Ladies' Hall and an Astronomical Observatory. The president of this college is Rev. Dr. Magoun, formerly of Bath.

William Rodick, a workman in Mr. Minott's yard at Bath, fell Monday morning, from the staging some twenty-five feet, falling across a timber on the wharf. He appeared badly hurt.

The Times says the eleven mills at Winnegance are doing good business, filling orders for Boston parties, principally short lumber.

The citizens of Phipsburg are agitating the feasibility of a railroad from Bath to Parker's Head.

Mrs. Julia Chandler, an aged lady, residing at 60 Columbia street, Cambridgeport, while on her way to take the steamer Star of the East, Tuesday, for Bath and Belgrade, to spend the summer, met with a painful accident by falling from the Custom House steps, Boston, dislocating her hip. She was conveyed back to her residence where she was attended by a physician, who ordered her removal to the Massachusetts General Hospital, Wednesday morning.

THE SPRUCE AND HACKMATACK WORMS.

LETTER FROM PROF. FERNALD, OF THE STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

The following letter from Prof. C. H. Fernald, of the State Agricultural College, appears in the Lewiston Journal:

The cause of the injuries to the spruces in Northern Maine is entirely unknown up to this time. Every statement which I have seen thus far, has been mere guess work and wild theory. Dr. Packard, who had intended to go up into the region named, has just visited me, and as it is late, he will not go up there this year, at least. The cause of the injuries to the forests in the Western part of the State is due to two distinct insects, and the history of them is as follows:

The spruce (Tortrix Tortrix fumiferana Clem.) belongs to the great family Tortricidae, upon which I have been at work for many years. The common coddling moth is a familiar member of this family.

The spruce tortrix lays her eggs on the leaves of the spruce, fir, pine and hemlock in the early part of July. In about ten days the eggs hatch when the minute young spin a fine covering for themselves between the leaves and stems, where they remain until the following spring when they begin to feed and spin a straggling web among the leaves. In the latter part of June they transform into pupæ, and early in July the perfect moths emerge when the sexes pair and the females at once lay their eggs for another generation. My attention was first called to these insects in 1878, when I began a careful study of them, which was not completed until the summer of 1880, and the complete history in all its details I first published in the American Naturalist for January, 1881.

Dr. Packard informs me that he has this summer succeeded in carrying this insect through its transformations, and has verified the observations I made four years ago.

This species has hitherto been exceedingly rare, so that there were not more than three or four specimens in all the museums of America, but owing to a scarcity of its parasites in Western Maine a few years ago, they increased to such an alarming extent that they completely overran the trees, and actually defoliated them. These parasites are now on the increase, so that the Tortrix will soon become scarce again. This same insect may be the one destroying the forests of Northern Maine, but no one knows positively.

Finally the insect destroying the hackmatacks is the Hackmatack Saw Fly, but the insect destroying the spruce, fir, hemlock, etc., is the larva of the Spruce Tortrix, a small moth.

MONDAY, AUGUST 6, 1883.

The State election in Kentucky occurs to-day.

It is officially reported that not a single case of the foot and mouth disease can be found among American cattle.

Ex-Senator Bruce, Register of the Treasury, will go to Ohio early in September and make some twenty-five speeches in that State before the election.

A Washington correspondent says that a member of Congress told him that Senator Dan Voorhees told him that ex-Governor Hendricks told him that he would not again accept a nomination from the Democratic party. This seems to be authoritative, and Hendricks may be counted out.

The Democrats are cutting the tariff plank of their platforms on a bias this year, says the Inter-Ocean, but they have an awful time making it fit the old hole in the party. Virginia has just tried it, and, as compared with former years, a four-horse team would fall through the breech.

Certainly, take the tax off whiskey, and thereby make the Democratic heart leap for joy. Let us be "frugal in the conduct of affairs." Let us have extra sessions called in the supposed interest of ambitious politicians. Let us dismiss a few scrubbing women from the capital and distribute three thousand dollars a day among the faithful who are showing the people how not to do it. Let us be economical. Drive in the spigot and knock out the bung.—Phila. North American.

The proposal to hold a conference meeting of the West-Virginia Republicans is received with much favor, says the Wheeling Intelligencer. The situation in that State just now is especially favorable to the Republican party and a wise determination is shown to take advantage of it. The Congressional elections of last year proved what could be done by hard work and and thorough organization. The victory gained then has evidently inspired the Republicans to put forth greater efforts in the future.

Prof. Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the Bell telephone, is an enthusiast in the education of deaf-mutes. His plan is to have this unfortunate class of pupils taught to understand common speech by reading the lips of a speaker and to speak themselves, and at the same time to put them into the public schools with other children to be educated as they are. He says that by this method deaf mutes, instead of being isolated from society and forming a community by themselves, are made accustomed to communicate with others.

A letter from Rome to the Boston Transcript says: "Mr. John W. Garrett, of Baltimore, has presented King Humbert with horse Damascus by Æneas Hamlet. It is said that Damascus is one of the most perfectly formed horses existing and Mr. Garrett had refused to sell it for $40,000. He makes the King a rare gift, therefore. Damascus is coming over in the Italian Navigation Company's steamer Birmania. A special box has been made for it. Sculptor Story is going, it is said, to make a marble statue of the horse."

It is not, says the Harrisburg (Pa.) Telegraph, that the Democrats expect to pass Congressional and legislative apportionment bills that they remain in session at expense of $3,000 per day to the people, but to satisfy Governor Pattison. The Governor called the extra session against the advice of the older and more prominent members of the party, and in his stubbornness he has kept the Legislature here to cover his mistake in calling it together. Pattison is responsible for the mistake in calling the extra session, and he is responsible for continuing the mistake.

The industrious editors who have been working up McDonald's Presidential canvass have laid great stress upon his alleged overwhelming popularity in the South. It seems, however, that they have been drawing largely upon their imaginations. The Atlanta Constitution says that it has heard nothing of this "overwhelming popularity," and it doubts whether McDonald "will find any partisans in the South." The Macon Telegraph takes a similar view. It thinks that "McDonald is no special favorite in the South. He is a man of no especial mark, prominence or ability. There is scarcely a county in the State of Georgia that has not a practicing justice of the peace who is the peer of McDonald in everything." Evidently the McDonald boom has been overworked.

The National Railroad Company of Japan, incorporated with a capital of $20,000,000, under the auspices of the Japanese Government, two years ago, has adopted the American system of building railroads, and is now constructing the main line which extends from Tokio to Anderson, the northern seaport of Japan, a distance of 450 miles. A part of the main line, about fifty miles in length, has already been finished and will be open to the public this month or next. The terminus of the line is the commercial centre of a province where silk culture is the principal occupation of the people. The silk raised in this province is highly esteemed in foreign markets and is exported to America as well as to Europe in large quantities every year. It is expected that the whole line will be finished within three years.

It didn't take long, after the opening of the Ohio campaign, for Charlie Foster to get down to telling contemptible personal lies and put himself in an unenviable position. He is one of the cheapest men in politics.—Boston Post.

The author of the above dirty paragraph has evidently not seen the letter written by J. H. Woodward, a well known Democrat and a staff correspondent of the Democratic Cincinnati Enquirer, who charges Judge Hoadly with having admitted that his "nomination cost him too much," a charge that Hoadly has not attempted to deny, presumably because it is true. He was very anxious to know the name of Gov. Foster's informant and now that he has been accommodated he has "nothing further to say." It is simply a question of veracity between two lights of the Democratic party, and, as this is a quality in which that party does not deal extensively, the people of Ohio will probably decide the matter for themselves in October by electing Judge Foraker by a handsome majority.

THE PROPOSED CONSOLIDATION.

[Maine Farmer.]

A meeting of the stockholders of the Maine Central Railroad is to be held in Augusta on the fourteenth of August, to urge the Directors of the road to take any and all legal measures to prevent the consolidation of the Eastern and Boston & Maine Railroads. The best lawyers in the State believe the Maine Central road can, through its officers, prevent the consolidation of these roads. Every step that can be taken to prevent this proposed consolidation should be taken. The people of Maine are interested in this matter and have much at stake, for this consolidation means a monopoly, and it also means depreciation of the Maine Central. Hon. Jonas H. French, of Boston, a Director of the Eastern and Maine Central roads, in a very able speech before a committee of the Legislature of New Hampshire tersely said, "The Maine Central road is really what the Boston & Maine is after. The Maine Central road is now controlled by the Eastern road, and through it the business of the whole of the great State of Maine and the provinces beyond."

To show that the Eastern road was the natural and legitimate through line from Boston to New Brunswick, and in that connection the Boston & Maine is but a "side track," Mr. French said "that in 1877 a pooling contract was made between the Eastern and Boston & Maine on business to competing points, and as a result of that operation, the Maine Central being neutral ground, upon which shippers were at liberty to direct their freight to go just as they chose without any solicitation on the part of the railroad officials in favor of either route, the Eastern road has paid to the Boston & Maine $140,000 in round numbers and for this year alone the balance to be paid will be nearly $60,000. This indicates the natural direction freight takes in coming from the east to Boston."

The Maine Central road is now in grand condition and doing a large business. Its gross earnings the past five years have increased forty-five per cent. and its net earnings twenty-two per cent. The stock is now at par and dividend paying; its bonds are selling at a large premium. If consolidation takes place then the future of the Maine Central is not bright. Its stock will cease to pay dividends and its bonds will not be eagerly sought after. We hope to see a large meeting of the stockholders and we trust their action will aid in preventing the consummation of this proposed consolidation. We are glad to know that such sagacious business men, such public spirited citizens as Hon. Abner Coburn, Hon. Frederick A. Pike, John Patten, Bath; J. L. H. Cobb, Lewiston; Wm. G. Davis, H. N. Jose, John Marshall Brown, J. P. Baxter, Portland; S. A. Holbrook, Freeport; A. S. Rice, Rockland; Franklin Smith, Waterville; Noah Wood, Bangor, protest against this union of the Eastern and Boston & Maine. It is safe to follow where such wise business men lead.

The managers of the Ohio Democratic campaign, says the Tribune, do not appear to be very eager to pit their candidate for Governor against Judge Foraker, Hoadly is said to be willing to take part in joint discussions and the Republican candidate has made known his readiness. The Democrats, however, are more discreet than their candidate. Their hesitation, doubtless, results from a fear that Hoadly's propensity to blunder will get him into more trouble. It is known that the Democrats desire to avoid any discussion of the liquor question. The Scott law is proving so unexpectedly popular that they see how damaging it would be for them to take an attitude opposing it and yet they are charged with being pledged to the brewers to repeal it in case they carry the next Legislature. In a joint discussion Foraker could ask Hoadly some uncomfortable questions on the subject. Hence this Democratic hesitation.

The Democratic Council of Cleveland has rejected the motion to provide for a reduction of taxation on account of the Scott law revenue. The Cleveland Herald explains the situation as follows: "The Democrats saw that the Scott law, which works injustice to no man, would, if allowed to take its intended course, effect an appreciable reduction (about one-sixth) in the tax rate of the city, and would therefore become a popular measure. They saw this situation. Rather than allow these beneficial results to fall upon the people through the agency of the Republican party, the Democrats of Cleveland deliberately misdirect the aims of the law and misappropriate the funds derived by it. By thus nullifying the beneficial effects of the measure as they would have been felt by the taxpayer, the Democrats hope to make the measure unpopular. This is the first infamous Democratic object. The second object of the Democrats is to keep within their own control, to be expended for their own purpose, the $150,000 of Scott law funds intended by the Republicans to go direct to the taxpayer."

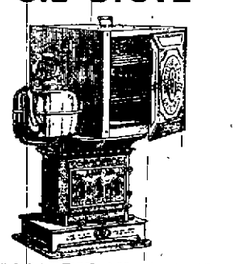
Important and Specific Reasons

—WHY THE—

Adams & Westlake Improved Wire Gauze, Non-Explosive OIL STOVE



IS "SAFEST AND BEST."

CALL FOR THEM.

The A. & W. has been entered at Expositions and Fairs in all parts of the World. Has been shown in competition with nearly 200 makes of oil stoves, and in every instance has been awarded the first premium medals over all competitors. Notably at Paris Exposition, Provincial Fair, Toronto, Canada; World's Fair, Melbourne, Australia; Cincinnati Exposition, Industrial Exposition at Providence R. I., New England Fair, Atlanta Cotton Exposition.

Remember the A. & W. is the only oil stove made which will bake and broil, or bake and carry on some other operation at the same time, obtaining direct heat. Is the only oil stove which can be exposed to drauchts of air and not be affected, while other makes smoke as badly as the coldest weather once lamp if the least puff of air reaches them. Call on all other dealers in town, but before purchasing call and examine the A. & W., and get our 13 PRINTED reasons.

New Hub Range FOR 1883.

COMBINES MORE IMPROVEMENTS,

than all its competitors. The introduction of the New Hub is the only has caused our competitors to make over their goods, and in doing so their aim has been to get a stove "as good as the New Hub," but as yet they have all failed, and without

The Patent Reflex Crate,

they cannot get a stove that will compare with the Hub. We have

within three years and we refer to them for proof that the New Hub is the easiest range to manage; the best baker, the most durable and the prettiest range in the market. To prove the durability of the Reflex grate, we will simply say that we have not in three years replaced or repaired one dozen grates out of the hundreds that we have sold. During the Summer season the New Hub has been nearly made over. Every point which experience has proved to need strength, has been thoroughly strengthened, and we have to-day a range that is twenty-five per cent. ahead of any other in New England.

Compare it with anything in the city, even the latest, and decide for yourself. We refund money for every range that proves unsatisfactory after a fair trial.

The Closing Session.

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Aug. 5. The Woman's National Temperance Convention closed to-day. About 1000 people attended the morning meeting. There were early prayers at 7 o'clock and an address at 10:30 by Mrs. Hannah Smith, of Philadelphia, who related instances of temperance work in Washington, Philadelphia and other places. She referred to the 23d Psalm as containing the most blessed statement of facts of any passage in the Bible. At 2.30, Mrs. Hunt, of Boston, spoke on the importance of christianity. The closeaddress of the convention was made in the evening by Mrs. Mary Burt. Dr. Cullis was present during the day. Every evening of the coming week Rev. J. M. Sutherland will hold revival meetings. The National Holiness meetings will begin Aug. 27th and National Temperance meetings in September, when many noted advocates of the cause will be present.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

The Patent Suits.

DOVER, Aug. 4. Roberts Brothers, lawyers for the New Hampshire cities, sued by Marcus F. Norton, for an alleged patent valve infringement on steam fire engines, notified Mayor Lothrop this afternoon that judgment has been entered for the defendants in the suit of Norton vs. Dover, and that an order was made by Judge Lowell for nonsuit in the suits of Norton vs. Manchester, Nashua, Portsmouth and Concord, and said order was sent to the clerk of the United States Court and would be filed and entered on the records. He also informed the Mayor that a full, entire release to each of the five cities for all damages or claims by reason of an infringement of Knabb's patent by said cities has been executed by the owner of the patent and delivered to them. This procedure definitely and entirely releases each city from any further claim of the owners of the patents.

Killed by a Train.

NASHUA, Aug. 4. James Conlon and H. B. Wallace, while driving across the track of the Nashua & Worcester Railroad, at Nashua, to-night, were struck by a train and instantly killed.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

Another Heavy Failure.

BOSTON, Aug. 4. The announcement will be made in the morning that the large shoe and leather firm of Hersey, Whittier & Wyman, doing business on Federal street, has failed, liabilities half a million. The suspension was not brought about by the recent heavy failures in that line of trade, but is due entirely to other causes.

Later.

The firm of Hersey, Whittier & Wyman, leather tanners and dealers in upper leather, who failed yesterday, made an assignment of their property for the benefit of their creditors to William F. Mullin, of the firm of Mullin & Brown. The failure became known to but very few and the announcement will be a surprise not only to the general public but the shoe and leather trade. The firm has a branch, Hersey & Co., tanners, Moose River, N C., and George M. Botchford, tanner, Glensdale, New York, and all three concerns go down together. The Moose River branch consists of Hersey & Wyman, and the Glensdale branch of Botchford & Hersey. The firm has done a large business both in sole leather and in wax and kip and the combined liabilities of the main and branch houses aggregate, the firm thinks, $500,000. The indebtedness is almost entirely to the banks, very few notes having been given for merchandise.

The assets are large and the failure, so the firm states, is due to the refusal of the banks, on account of the feeling of distrust which at present prevails in reference to the shoe and leather trade to take the firm's paper so liberally as they have been accustomed to do. The firm is not involved at all in the affairs of Shaw & Brothers, or of the other concerns failed the last few days. Lewis W. Nute, a Natick boot and shoe manufacturer, is a special partner for $100,000 till February 28, 1885. The firm has been considered worth $200,000 or $300,000 and its failure will tend to check the restoration of confidence which had begun to take the place of distrust induced by the Shaw failure and those growing out of it.

Another Despatch.

The suspension of Hersey, Whittier & Wyman naturally causes considerable uneasiness, as on the surface it seemed to indicate a general tendency to demoralization in the shoe and leather trade of the city. A careful analysis of the situation, however, leaves no cause for a panic or general alarm. It is possible that the firm will pay all their liabilities in full and that Lewis W. Nute, of Natick, the special partner to the amount of $100,000, will be able to save a portion of his capital.

There seems no necessity for alarm in business circles. With exception of Hersey, Whittier & Wyman, the real failure has been that of F. Shaw & Bros. Each of the other concerns was doing a solvent and profitable business, but their statements will probably show they can pay but about 20 cents on the dollar. In each case the liabilities are on notes on which the name of F. Shaw & Bros. appears. They are jointly liable for the amount of these notes. The liabilities of Shaw & Bros. are chiefly on two manufacturers.

The liabilities of C. H. Copeland & Co., C. H Ward, S C & J. G. Phinney, Macomber & Greenwood, P. & C. W. Clement amount to three millions, but it would be entirely erroneous to say the total liabilities of the failed firms is six millions, for the debts of these last are simply a joint liability for the main portion of Shaw Bros. debts. The banks are the principal creditors of all the suspended firms, but the paper is so widely distributed that no institution is at all shaken. In the Boston bank holding the largest amount of this paper if it should prove a total loss the profit and loss account of the institution would wipe it all out without recourse to the surplus fund to say nothing of the capital. The failure of Hersey, Whittier & Wyman is not expected to entail any fresh disasters.

THE O.A.R.

Some Interesting Races.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 4. The closing race on Lake Minnetonka, purse $500, divided, was one of the most interesting events of the season. Before the race Gaudaur was a favorite in the pools. The men drew positions in the following order: Hanlan was barred. Riley, Hosmer, Gaudaur, Teemer, Lee, Plaisted and Parker. The course was one and one-quarter miles straight away and return. The water was smooth. A start was made at 2.02 P. M., Gaudaur taking water first quickly followed by the others. Hosmer, Gaudaur Lee and Teemer quickly went to front, with a stroke of 34, the two former having a hot fight for first place the first mile. Teemer came along side and by a splendid spurt he reached the turning buoy first and started on the home stretch with Hosmer close upon him and the others following not far away. The race between Hosmer and Teemer was close, the former slowly drawing to the front and crossing the line in 16 minutes and 38 seconds. Teemer was two lengths behind, Lee a good close third, followed by Gaudaur, Parker, Riley and Plaisted in the order named. Teemer made the turn in 9 10.

The second race was rowed in Crystal Bay for another purse of $500 divided. The entries were the same as in the first race. Hanlan was one of the judges. The course was an even three miles with turn. The water and wind were favorable for fast time. Hosmer was the favorite, $100 to $120, with few takers. A start was made at 6 P. M., Gaudaur being the first to take water, followed closely by the rest. Gaudaur led for the first half mile, pressed by Hosmer, Lee and Teemer. At the three mile flag Hosmer made a spurt and came alongside of Gaudaur.

Teemer then let out and at the turn Gaudaur, Hosmer and Teemer turned their respective buoys on even terms in 10.30, followed by Lee, Riley, Parker and Plaisted for a dozen lengths. No one had any perceptible advantage, but Teemer who was pulling in fine form soon drew ahead two lengths and crossed the line ten lengths ahead of Gaudaur, Lee third, Hosmer fourth, Riley 5th, Parker 6th, Plaisted last. Teemer's time was given at 20 50, but outsiders claim that he made the three miles in less than 20 minutes.

THE PRESIDENTIAL PARTY.

Arrival at Cheyenne.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 5. The President's train arrived at Omaha at four o'clock yesterday morning, stopping only long enough to drop the locomotive and equipment of the Northwestern Railroad and take on that of the Union Pacific. General Superintendent Nichols is in charge of the train. The party is making a short delay here in order that the President may see the people. Upon Friday the train reached the Iowa line and the President appeared on the rear platform at all the princial cities an towns through which it passed in answer to calls. All are in the best of health.

THE TELEPHONE.

Basis of Consolidation.

LOWELL, Mass., Aug. 4. A meeting of the Directors of the National Telephone Company, the Boston and Northern Suburban and Bay State, this forenoon, adopted resolutions recommending a consolidation upon a basis substantially as follows: The capital of the consolidated company shall be sixteen million dollars, the Boston and Northern stock goes in at $150 per share, the Bay State at $140, the Bell National of Maine at $90. The American Bell will hold eight millions of the consolidated stock and waive dividends for three years, after which one million dollars will participate in dividends. There will be eight million dollars of new issued stock and two hundred thousand dollars cash in the treasury for construction. The Southern New England Company will represent in the consolidation $1,675,500, the Southern Massachusetts Company, $711,000, the Providence Company, $600,000, and the Granite State, $121,500. Morris F. Tyler, of Connecticut, is proposed for President, W. A. Ingham for Vice President, a Boston man for Treasurer, C. J. Glidden for Secretary and L. N. Downs, General Manager.

FIRE RECORD.

Blaze in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4. Fire broke out this morning in the Winter Garden Theatre, a long frame structure filled with inflammable materials, with an asphaltum roof. It was surrounded by an old frame building. The fire spread with great rapidity and consumed the Pacific College, the Druid's Hall and threatened Trinity church but the brick walls of the latter checked its progress and that building as well as the National Guard Armory were saved. The fire was under control about four o'clock. Barry Morgan, an actor, was burned to death, and several people were fatally injured by jumping from the windows. The firemen worked bravely and saved many from being burned to death. Total loss is believed to be within $200,000.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Bad Enough Whatever it May Be.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4. U. S. Consul Stevens, at Smyrna, writes that it is not believed that the disease at Damietta is genuine Asiatic cholera; that there is no trace of it coming from Egypt, but is a malignant distemper caused by the filthy condition of the town and unclean habits of the lower classes.

Customs Receipts.

The total receipts for customs during the month of July last were $20,909,290 as against $19,850,637 collected from the same source during the same month of last year. This shows an increase of $958,653 in the first month of the new tariff law.

Leave of Absence.

Under construction of the law made some time ago by Secretary Folger, leave of absence of the employes of the Treasury Department is limited to thirty days in each calendar year, with pay, except in case of sickness. It had heretofore been the custom to allow employes ten or fifteen days additional leave that they might go home to vote. Now all absence from duty on that account will be deducted from the 30 days leave allowed by law. In case an employe has taken his full leave before the time for voting has arrived he can only go home to vote by losing his pay for the time he may be absent. No action has been taken in the matter by the heads of other departments, but it is thought that they will concur in the construction made Secretary Folger. The law is as follows: "All absences from departments on the part of clerks, in excess of such leave of absence as may be granted, which shall not exceed thirty days, in any one year, except in case of sickness, shall be without pay."

Sale of Postage Stamps.

Reports received at the General Post Office from twenty-five of the principal offices in the country show an increase in the sale of postage stamps, cards, etc., to the value of $332,457 for the quarter ending June 30, 1883, over the corresponding period of last year. The increase is equal to six and two-tenths per cent. and is about four per cent. less than the usual increase. Mr. Hazen, Third Assistant Postmaster General, accounts for this by the statement that business houses generally are ordering "special request" envelopes in greatly reduced quantities in anticipation of the reduction of letter postage, which goes into effect October 1. The twenty-five offices mentioned collected 34 per cent. of the, entire posta revenue during the record quarter of 1883.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

Routes of Wrecked Sailors.

BOSTON Aug. 5. The second mate and twelve seamen of the whaler Merlin, of New Bedford, wrecked last April on the southwest coast of Africa, arrived to-day on the Cunard steamship Samaria. The Merlin sailed from St. Helena April 3d, and a few days after struck a whale which rendered 167 barrels of oil. On the 23d at about 1:30 A. M., the barque went ashore on the African coast at about 16 degrees south; struck heavily nearly a broadside on. The pumps were started but were speedily choked with sand. The anchors would not hold. Every effort was made to save the vessel, but the next day it was found necessary to abandon her, which the crew did with a week's provisions, saving nothing. They pulled 60 miles to Bush Bay the nearest place of refuge where they were kindly treated by the Portuguese government who sent them to St. Paul de Loando. The American Consul sent them to Madeira where the party separated, the captain, first mate and 12 seamen proceeding to Lisbon, the second mate and twelve men to Liverpool. The Merlin belonged to John F. Tucker; registered 200 tons.

An Iceberg.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5. The steamer Dunbarton City from Liverpool to-day, reports July 31st, lat. 49 45, long 48.30, passed large icebergs, one of which was about two miles long and three hundred feet high.

NEWS FROM VICTORIA.

An Absconding Lumberman—Immense Bush Fires.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 5. Chauncy Carpenter, saw mill owner, has absconded leaving liabilities to the amount of $40,000. It is believed he carried $20,000 away with him.

Bush fires have spread over the entire country and everywhere the flames and smoke reign supreme. The island is similarly affected. The sky is filled with smoke so dense that the sun's rays cannot break through it. There has been no rain for nearly three months.

FOREIGN NEWS.

A Riot.

LONDON, Aug. 5. The Jewish residents of Ekaterinoslav, Russia, were attacked by a mob on the 3d inst., and the soldiery had to be called out to disperse the rioters, ten of whom were killed and thirteen wounded. The trouble was caused by a row insulting a peasant woman. The town council of Ekaterinoslav has resolved to give the Jews 5,000 roubles to compensate them for their losses and to provide shelter for those who were rendered homeless.

Rumors of Another Murder.

LONDON, Aug. 5. It is stated that Earl Spencer, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, is much annoyed by the murder of Carey and the prevention of Kavanaugh and other informers from landing at Melbourne. There has been some angry correspondence between Earl Spencer and prominent officials on the subject. The Observer says it is rumored that Kavanaugh has been murdered.

Not Dead Yet.

MELBOURNE, Aug. 6. Kavanaugh and other informers are still on board the steamer Pathan. The Governments of New South Wales and Victoria are negotiating with a view to settling the difficulty.

Threats of Violence.

LONDON, Aug. 4. Lord Chief Justice Coleridge is strictly guarded during the sitting of the Bristol assizes, owing to a threat made against his life by Fenians.

The Cholera Scourge

LONDON, Aug. 5. The total number of deaths from cholera in Egypt on Friday, were 470, including 179 at Cairo, 27 at Rosetta, 187 in the Province of Dakaileh and 14 in Beni Sef. Deaths in Egypt Saturday number 478, including 160 at Cairo, 22 at Rosetta, 109 in Garbieh, 44 in Dakaileh and 89 in Beni Sef. The Saturday return is somewhat incomplete, but there seems to have been an improvement since Friday.

Brief Notes.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 4. The International Sanitary Council will impose 28 days quarantine on vessels which have had cases of cholera on board. Other rigid restrictions will be enforced.

BELGRADE, Aug. 5. The Cabinet Ministers have withdrawn their resignations.

LONDON, Aug. 5. Saturday, three persons died from cholera at Alexandria and two at Manieh, one a British soldier.

ZANZIBAR, Aug. The Hamedi still surround Kamsawe, but appear to be demoralized. They have not made any attack since July 18. The French are unable to advance because of the smallness of their forces.

LONDON, Aug. 6. It is reported here that a military rising has taken place in the Spanish province of Badajoz, in the Portuguese frontier, and that regular artillery have taken the [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

WITHIN AN INCH OF MY LIFE.

During the earlier years of my medico-military career I was selected as the assistant surgeon of the Army Lunatic Asylum, then established in one of the eastern counties of England. At the time of the appointment I was given to understand that it was one which paid a high compliment to my professional abilities, and was bestowed as a reward for good services done; but as I did not see it quite in the same light, I went and interviewed the chief who had thought so much more of me than I did of myself.

"Sir," said I, "some men are born to honors, others have honors thrust upon them; the latter is my case. I don't understand one bit about the treatment, moral or medical, of the insane. I never saw but one madman in my life, and he, I verily believe, was more knave than fool; and I can't help thinking that if you send me to the asylum, you are sending the round man to fit into the square hole."

"That is not of the slightest consequence," answered he whom I was addressing, in the richest of brogues; "not the laste in loife. Round or square, the hole will suit ye to a t; and if so be that ye don't know anything consarning lunatics, whoy, the sooner ye larn the bether. Ye'll be plazed to jine widout delay. Good morning." So he bowed me out; and I having a wholesome dread of the powers that were, joined forthwith.

It is one of Shakspere's wise sayings, that "Use doth breed a habitude a-man." Before there had passed away many weeks of my sojourn with the deemed officers and men of Queen Victoria's land forces, I found myself highly interested with their pretty much well-cared-for home, running pleasantly in the groove I had so much objected to, and getting rid forever and a day of that repugnance which every outsider naturally enough entertains when brought into contact with the denizens of a madhouse. With a pass-key which was an open sesame to every lock in the establishment, I was accustomed to wander over it unattended either by the "keeper" or the orderlies; and never was I molested or spoken to threateningly save once, and that upon the occasion I have elected to call "Within an inch of my Life."

In the afternoons, when the patients were not indoors, it was my practice to go through every part of the building, inspecting it sanitarily. I was doing so as usual upon a certain winter's day, when, at a curve of a corridor, I came suddenly upon a patient leaning gloomily against one of the pillars. He was a private soldier of the Forty-fifth or Sherwood Foresters; a recent admission, and whose phase of insanity was somewhat puzzling the head surgeon and myself. Without entering upon details, I shall merely say that we had doubts upon his case, and had recommended his removal from the asylum to the care of his friends. Meantime, however, he was to be closely watched, and no garden-tools or other implements put into his hands. How he had managed to elude the vigilance of the orderly under whose surveillance he had been placed, and to be where I met him, was one of the things I never understood. But so it was.

When he saw me, his melancholic demeanor ceased; he advanced with rapid strides toward me, and I saw at a glance that he meant mischief of some sort or other; for every muscle of his body was trembling with passion, and on every feature of his face was pictured that of a demon. I confess that fear came over me. What was this maniac going to do? But to show apprehension would be fatal, so I faced him boldly and exclaimed: "Hollo, Mathews! what are you going here? Why are you not in the airing grounds with the others?"

He turned a wild and flashing eye upon me, and glared like a wild beast. Then he howled out rather than said: Let me out of this!"

"What do you mean?" I replied, resolving if possible to gain time, and trusting that presently an orderly might pass and relieve me from the terrible dilemma in which I stood.

"Let me out!" he repeated, "I have been too long in this vile place. I want to join my regiment; to see my poor old mother, and Mary, my sweetheart. Why am I here? I am not mad like the others. God knows that; so do you." But if I am kept much longer, I shall be stark, staring mad. Let me out, I say!"

He was now boiling over with frenzy. Still I kept my ground. "Matthews," I said, "I know that you are not mad; so listen a moment. How can I let you out? I am not the head doctor. I can't act without his orders. Your removal has been recommended by him. I'll go and consult him now."

"No, you won't, indeed."

"Well I can't release you. It would be as much as my commission is worth to connive at your escape. I should be tried by court-martial and cashiered, if not worse. That you must be aware of."

"That's no matter to me. I'll make you! See this!" He opened the loose gray pea jacket he wore, and, to my horror, took from within it a round paving stone of some pounds in weight, such as the court-yard of the building was paved with. How he had managed to obtain and to secrete it was another mystery.

A cold perspiration broke out upon me. My life seemed to be hanging by the slenderest of threads. I had no means of defence; the rules prevented my taking into the interior of the asylum even a walking-stick; and man to man, the maniac was taller and stronger than I.

The soldier raised the stone in his uplifted hands, and held it over my head, which was protected only by my regulation forage-cap. I expected every instant that I should be crushed beneath it; but still the man seemed irresolute to strike. Then, while Damocles-like the missile hung above me, a sudden idea flashed across my mind: "What if I try to dodge him?"

"Put down that stone!" I cried out.

"Let me out, then!" he answered.

"Put down that stone, and I will. But first declare that you will tell no one who did it or how it was done."

"Done, I swear!" And then, to my inexplicable relief, he lowered his raised hands.

I looked round once again, really to spy if any official was in sight; but in such a sly, covert way as to make Mathews believe that I feared an eavesdropper.

"You know the locality outside the barracks?"

"Yes. I was stationed here some years ago, with my regiment."

"Well, this door" (pointing to one which was close to us) "leads down to a very short passage to another exit opening on the Dene."

He was now all ears—every nerve strained to hear what I had to tell him.

"Here, take this key." I put into his stretched-out hand one that I happened to have in my pocket; I forget to what it belonged, but I knew that it would fit no lock inside the asylum. He grasped it eagerly, and at the same time dashed the paving stone on the floor.

"What then, sir?" he asked in less excited tones.

"This. With my pass-key I shall let you into the passage. Grope your way for a yard or two down; feel for the lock of the outer door; open it with this key, and—escape."

"You will tell no one that I am gone—take no steps to have me caught? Remember this: if I am brought back, I'll murder you!"

"Mathews! if you escape by the method I pointed out, no one shall know it."

"You are the soldier's friend!" he replied. "Let me shake hands with you, sir."

I did not feel happy when I found my palm wrung within his; but I quickly opened the door alluded to; and without the least shadow of suspicion, he entered immediately. Once he was fairly in, I pulled it to with a bang which shook the very walls. He was enclosed in a bath-room.

The strain of excitement over, reaction came on. I felt sick and faint, and I knew no more until I saw one of the officials and my servant stooping over me. The former, going his rounds, had found me lying on the floor; and as soon as I came to my senses, I told them what had happened: and steps were taken to have Mathews so watched that in future paving stones would never again be in his possession. I took care also never again to perambulate the asylum without my orderly escort.—Chambers's Journal.

MRS. C. W. CHAMBERLIN

State and Ark St., Springfield, Mass.

Her Good, Kind Words will be Much for the Afflicted.

Mrs. Chamberlin is the wife of C. W. Chamberlin, an employee in the United States Armory at Springfield, Mass. She says: "Every Spring I have been, for some time past, more or less troubled with nervous debility and weakness. Some years I've been completely run down. My physician has recommended various strengthening and blood medicines, but I never received any permanent benefit until I tried Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY. It was recommended to me by Mrs. Newcombe, on State St. I think it was the very medicine to give one strength and ambition a person. I have recommended it to family after family among my acquaintances in Springfield, Mass., and FAVORITE REMEDY has done a great deal of good wherever it has been placed. I have a sister, Mrs. Barnard, 22 Tremont St., Lowell, Mass., who was troubled with nervous weakness and loss of strength and appetite, but by using Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY her health was completely restored. I consider it an excellent medicine. Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is used extensively among the Armory men here."

No, Sir!

A Scotch minister once said no woman could bear pain as well as man. That is not so. The fact is generally the other way. Mrs. Edward Lewis, of Concord, N. Y., submitted to the operation of the removal of her breast by amputation, without taking ether, or moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy, also of Concord, N. Y., performed the operation, and he never saw such heroism. The lady's disease was cancerous, and afterwards the Doctor gave his FAVORITE REMEDY to cleanse the blood. Mrs. Meyers is now well and strong.

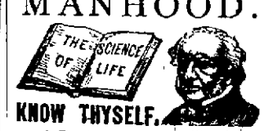
MANHOOD.



KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old!

The untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled, SCIENCE OF LIFE; or, Self-Preservation. Exhausted Vitality, Nervous and Physical Debility, Premature Decline in Man, Mental Imparied by the Errors of Youth, or indiscreet application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

28th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains useful and very explicative engravings, 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of disease, both acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt, only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

AYER'S

restores, with the glow and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to its natural rich brown color, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often, though not always, cured.

Dandruff, a fruitful cause of the hair coming out, is quickly cured by the Vigor. It prevents the ravages of humors, and checks all unhealthy action of the scalp. The Vigor is compounded on the principle that the hair requires nourishment, and supplies it. Nothing can restore the hair to which the roots are destroyed, but wherever they are alive, this preparation will impart the necessary tone to the vessels, and the nourishment they require.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, by reason of its color-restoring properties, is the favorite dressing for the hair. It is an elegant preparation, containing neither oil nor dye, and will not stain the skin. Its perfume is delightful and lasting, but not offensive.

SKIN HUMORS

Wonderful Cure of a Lad 12 years old, who for 8 years, from the top of his head to his ankles, was One Mass of Scabs.

Ayton, a lad twelve years of age, was afflicted with the worst form of Eczema for a period of eight years. So virulent was it that from the top of his head to within a few inches of his heels he was one mass of scabs, which refused to yield to any treatment that was attempted. every remedy that was suggested by friends or physicians was tried in vain. Allopathy, homeopathy, hydropathy, salt-water baths, flaxseed poultices, soaps, ointments, and in short everything that could be done to eradicate the disorder seemed only to aggravate it, and the child's life became a burden to him, and the expense of the various experiments was a constant drain upon our resources. Worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt, only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

SCROFULA

and all scrofulous diseases, Sores, Erysipelas, Eczema, Blotches, Ringworm, Tumors, Carbuncles, Boils, and Eruptions of the Skin, are the direct result of an impure state of the blood.

To cure these diseases the blood must be purified, and restored to a healthy and natural condition. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has for over forty years been recognized by eminent medical authorities as the most powerful blood purifier in existence. It frees the system from all foul humors, enriches and strengthens the blood, removes all traces of mercurial contamination, and proves itself a complete master of all scrofulous diseases.

A Recent Cure of Scrofulous Sores.

Some months ago I was troubled with scrofulous sores (abscesses on my legs. The limbs were badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. I was entirely laid aside, until I used AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, of which I have now taken five bottles, and the result is that the sores are healed, and my general health greatly improved. I feel very grateful for the good your medicine has done me. Yours respectfully, MRS. ANN O'BRIAN.

148 Sullivan St., New York, June 24, 1872.

☞ All persons interested are invited to call on Mrs. O'Brian; also upon the Rev. Z. T. Kingsley, 148 Sullivan Street, New York City, who will take pleasure in testifying to the wonderful efficacy of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Is not only in the cure of this lady, but in the cure of scores and many others within his knowledge.

The well-known writer on the Boston Herald, B. W. Ball, of Rochester, N.H., writes, June 7, 1872: "Having suffered severely for some years with Eczema, and having failed to find relief from other sources, I have made use, during the past three months, of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, which has effected a complete cure. I consider it a magnificent remedy for all blood diseases."

stimulates and regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, renews and strengthens the vital forces, and speedily cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, Catarrh, General Debility, and all diseases arising from an impoverished or corrupted condition of the blood, and a weakened vitality.

It is incomparably the cheapest blood medicine, on account of its concentrated strength, and great power over disease.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning noon and evening in season for important mails.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8½ P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with

☞ The public are earnestly recommended to procure their Blanks for envelopes, printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

Fifty thousand envelopes of above furnished at $32.20 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars. Stamped letter copies, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.

DOMESTIC POSTAGE.

Oranges and Florida.

Better than Breezes and Blossoms

—Under a New Flag.

Even the balmy air and orange groves of Florida fail to keep its people full of happiness and comfort. Art must help nature everywhere—in the tropics as among the pines of the North. "And, chief among the blessings which are adapted to all climes," writes Dr. J. G. Wall
